Questions (86-90)

Work ethics include not only how one feels about the job, career or vocation, but also how one does his/her job or responsibilities. This involves attitude, behaviour, respect, communication, and interaction; how one gets along with others. Work ethics demonstrate many things about whom and how a person is.

Work ethics involve such characteristics as honesty and accountability. Essentially, work ethics break down to what one does or would do in a particular situation. The begging question in a situation involves what is right and acceptable, and above board, versus what is wrong, underhanded, and under the table.

Work ethics, such as honesty (not lying, cheating, and stealing), doing a job well, valuing what one does, having a sense of purpose and feeling/being a part of a greater vision or plan is vital. Philosophically, if one does not have proper work ethics, a person's conscience may be bothered. People for the most part have good work ethic(s); we should not only want to do, but desire to do the proper thing in a given situation.

Work ethics are intrinsic; they come from within. A question may involve where they came from, if they come from within. Philosophically, this may lead to various perspectives, however, the truth about work ethics, and where they come from are answered by religious theories. Work ethics come from God, the creator. With regards God and Nature, everything seems to be guided by honesty, integrity, doing a job well, doing a job on time, accountability etc.

PASSAGE – 2

Questions : (91 – 95)

The structure of Indian society has always been male dominated. As the women try to break the shackles by venturing into the male dominated areas, there seems to be more aggression and discord from the male counterparts. Though society has evolved in more ways than one, still the signs of resistance are visible through atrocities on women.

A glance at any newspaper will not go without a mention of incidents against women. Eve-teasing is a major concern in most of the metros and suburbs in India. A large percentage of women face this menace as they try to venture into the male bastion. As women go to schools, colleges, office and other work space, they are haunted by the menace of eve-teasing. Be it a public transport system, college, office, malls and multiplexes, parks or pavements, they are vulnerable to the threat of eve-teasing.

Every man needs to be aware of 'how to treat a woman'. Eve teasing must be stopped. Women deserve respect. Men and women are equal. Women have the right to live freely as males. The answer to this problem lies in changing the mindset and inculcating morals and values in our education system. Women should be empowered to fight back. People with moral and ethical awakening should give their voice. Virtually every one of us needs to fight. When the good in the society raise their voice, the wretched people cannot muster courage to commit crime on women. Let us act together.

93. Which of the following is true from the passage ?

- (1) Though society has progressed, atrocities on women are happening.

* 32. "Older" is grammatically used only for nonliving thing. As the question is related to human beings options (2) and (3) are ruled out. Option (4) contains "I" which is a subjective case and cannot be used. Coming to option (1) "ELDER" can only be followed by "TO" as a comparative word. Hence, the correct answer is "ELDER TO ME", which is not available in the given option.
